DOMINICK BEAT THE STARTER'S FLAG.

Goose Hill Jockey Was Off in Front and Won Four Races at the Fair Grounds.

BIRDIE STONE AT LONG ODDS.

Meddlesome Landed the Third Race at a Fancy Price-Go Out's Poor Race - Tom Collins in Form.

Jockey Dominick took the starter's flag into his own hands yesterday and won four races, thus passing the century mark in winning mounts for the meeting by two races. In almost every race Dominick beat the flag and broke up the excellent starts Mr. Bruen had framed up. It is a habit he has. The boy has won a great many more races than any jockey at the meeting entirely on his ability to beat the flag. He is not a bunch rider or a comer from behind. If he can got away in front he can ride. And he knows it. Hence he has been getting running starts, standing starts, every kind of starts, but always, or almost always, the best of all the starts.

Three times out of four in both small and large fields the Goose Hill Slcan got the best of the breaks, and the fourth time he was away running and soon in front. Dominick has a fine record as a winning fockey, and it was all made in the first three jumps. Many boys at the track can outfinish him, as Dale did yesterday on Thrive, but it seems none of them has Starter Bruen's pitching motions down so fine. In baseball they say that the secret of base stealing is to watch the pitcher closely and learn his motions, so that a cer-tain movement accurately foretells the runner when the ball is to be pitched later on. Dominick must have Mr. Bruen's wind-up motions pretty fine. It remains to be seen if he will diagnose Starter Chinn's prelimnary motions as accurately at Kinloch next week.

The track was heavy as lead yesterday and winners were hard to choose. Any man that could pick the first race was entitled to 15 to 1 for his money. Armand, an unbacked good thing, landed it. Terralene got the money in the second. and she deserved it. Unquestionably she was best in the race. Frost gave her the best ride she has had in many days.

John S. Bratton and Bill Dixon got off

good thing in the third when they put leddlesome over at 8 to 1 without knowing it. Tom Glimore was a natural favorite here and finished a rice, decent last under Dale. It is a good thing the census has already been taken. If the enumerators were looking for information around the Fair Grounds yesterday they would never have counted him. He could not be counted. He did not exist.

The bookmakers tried to make the public bot on Alice Turner in the fourth, but the people would go to Thrive, albeit Mr. Cahn's good colt had not been to the post for three months. Thrive ran a fine race, for the Cahns can fit a horse for a firsttime-out win. After a bit of a drive at the sixteenth pole, Thrive disposed of Alice Turner and came home on the bit an easy

If Tom Collins had been a "dead" bottle the sharp crack of a waiter's corkscrew he could not have lathered and frothe any more than he did when he parades for the fifth race. When Tomasso lathers that he is always, or nearly always. worth a bet. It shows that he is in good form. He can no more run without his lather than a barber can shave lacking the long streams of white foam run down Collins off hind leg like the froth out of a hadly-tapped beer seg put a bet on him.

Dominick had just beaten the gate on Meddlesome by a long way, and no one looked for him to get away in front with Collins. He did it though, by five lengths running. The Geezer got away with him.
The rest were off by and by. The Geezer, favored by the hreak, raced along with Collins Hi Koilor was beaten when the flag fell. Had he not been so he would have won, for he made up barrels of ground and ran The Geezer to a nose for the place.

Miss Theresa was a favorite at 2 to 2 for the last event and never was in it. Some said that the exact kind of mud did not said that the exact kind of mud did not suit Birdie Stone, who is celebrated for her fondness for some particular kind of sloppy going. Birdie won galloping all the way. Corner gave Margarot F. one fearful handling. It was terrible to witness. She might have won. Miss Theresa did not like the going. In a close finish it appeared that Dale got second money with The Thrush, but the judges said not. Under a had ride and a bad start, Empyreal did excellently and should bear watching another time.

In the afternoon proceedings were enlivened by an impromptu hair-pailing match between two young women in the said that the exact kind of mud did no livened by an impromptu hair-pulling match between two young women in the stand. It appeared that the females in question quarreled over the proprietorship of a male person who rejoices in the allitrestant of a male person who rejoices in the allitrestant of a male person who rejoices in the allitrestant of a male person who rejoices in the allitrestant of the women claimed to have legal rights to the sole and undivided affection and loyalty of the precious character in question and accused the other female of being an alleged and unlicensed marauder upon her preserves. Both women were at once ejected from the stand, to the evident relief and comfort of the individual over whom they found it necessary to quarrel but to the disappointment of the crowd which gathered to see the affray.

COURSING AND RACING AT KINLOCH.

St. Louis Coursing Club Has Ar. Powell Pitched Great Ball, but ranged to Hold Meet in Conjunction With Horse Races.

MAY SECURE WATERLOO CUP. DONOVAN MADE A GREAT CATCH.

Blue Ribbon of the Leash Will Pat Robbed McCarthy of a Triple Probably Come to St. Louis-Fox Hunting Also on the Programme.

If the combined plans of the St. Louis Coursing Club and the Kinloch Jockey Club do not miscarry admirers of the greyhound and thoroughbred horse, very proper and natural affinities, will be given a unique combination of both sports this fall. At a meeting held Sunday, which was attended by the officials of both clubs, it was declded to give a week's coursing meet about October 15 in conjunction with the races at Kinloch Park. Whether this plan will be carried out or not depends on the American Coursing Board.

If this organization sanctions the running of the Waterloo Cup. Plate, Purse, Consolation Stake and American Derby at Kinloch Park St. Louisans can sit in the stand and see the bounds chase the rabbit in the infield while the horses are circling the track in the races. They can speculate on the dogs, too, just as they can on the horses. Books will be made on the courses, and it is expected that the money-takers will be kept busy. Should the American Coursing Board grant the request of the St. Louis Coursing Club, the greatest greyhounds in the country will be shipped here to participate in the events. The Waterloo Cup is to cours-ing what the Derby is to horseracing. The sport will be conducted on a larger scale than ever before attempted in this part of the country.

Speaking of the prespects for a good season of coursing Charles Benson, secre-tary of the St. Louis Coursing Club, said: "If we secure the Waterloo meet we will outdo San Francisco in a coursing way. San Francisco has for a long time been recognized as the coursing center of America, but it will have to take a back seat ica, but it will have to take a back seat now. We have secured the grounds-something that we have been looking for for several years. If the Waterloo event is secured it is the intention of the club to add $500. An entry fee of $25 will be charged and we expect that at least fifty dogs will be named. With fifty entries, the stake will be worth $1,750, quite a tidy sum. With the Waterloo Cup come the Waterloo Plate and the Consolation Stake and the American Derby for Pupples. This will American Derby for Pupples. This will make one solid week of coursing.

ORINA PROVED A BIG SURPRISE.

Gray Mare by Fred Douglas Overlooked in Betting at Providence.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 27.—The Grand Circuit meeting began at Narraganssett Park to-day, and, in spite of the excessive heat, the time was fast. A big field started in the 2:29 trot, which was stepped in faster time than at Readville. The favorite fared badly, for, after winning the first heat in 2:134. Lissa Bee was out, and a dark horse was sprung in the shape of Orina, an ungainly looking gray mare, halling from Allentown, Pa. The gray won the second heat in 2:1245, beginning a spring from the half and walking home a winner. The next two heats were repetitions of the second, and the talent was dumped by the wayside, as the gray sold for almost nothing at the pecis. BURKE WILL PRESIDE AT KINLOCH. New York Man Engaged to Run Things at the New Track. Things at the New Track.

President J. D. Lucas announced yesterday that J. J. Burke of New York, who is quite well known as a judge, would act as presiding officer in the Kinloch Park stand. Mr. Burke is a very pleasant person, a gay soul, a sweet singer and a horseman of many years' experience. He will make a nice mate for Mr. Chinn.

Judge Murphy said yesterday that Mr. Fred Cook's horse, St. Wood, pulled up very lame after his race on Saturday and had been nerved yesterday. The people who het so lavishly on St. Wood to show on Saturday will kick and want to know why he was not nerved a week sooner. But nerving, brutal and fearful as it is, must be recognized as part of the game. must be recognized as part of the game before and after taking.

By the way, Mr. Cook's luck did not break for him yesterday as it did in that Odnor-Isobel race on Saturday. Then Mr. Cook held Odnor out in his book and laid high price on Isobel. Through Isobel being interfered with Odnor won by a scant nostril. Yesterday Mr. Cook went after Tom Collins to take a similar fall out of him. The string of ticketholders Mr. Cook had behind his stand after the race was as long as the rail of the Transcasplan Railroad.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Chicago, Ill., Aug. 27.-Jack Menefee today twirled for Chicago against St. Louis, and, though he was hit harder than was his opponent, he won his game on his extreme craftiness.

The score was 2 to 1, and, although the St, Louis men tried furiously in each inning to bat the game to a tie and then win, they were stalled and held in the rut where they had fallen. However, in the ninth things took on such a yellow hue that the case of hay fever which Tom Loftus has fust ridded himself of was turned to one of ague. One run meant enough to tie the score, and Powell was getting altogether too good to risk many extra innings against him. Only one was out and McGann had singled.

Robinson was at the plate, and he is known to be a "pinch" hitter with a record. But McGann did not wait for his teammate to make an attempt. He started from second, and Charley Dexter caught him. When Robinson singled there was more trouble. Then Donlin was sent in to but for Powell, but he was sent to the bus when he knocked a grounder to Childs. Chicago made both her runs in the sec make one solid week of coursing.

"I received a very favorable reply from the president of the board in answer to my request for the Waterloo. I think that it is about settled that we will secure the big event. If successful we will select the last work in feetcher to decide the events."

BROOM-CORN TRUST'S DILEMMA Must Buy Up Present Illinois Crop or Let Go of Its Holdings.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Oakland, Ill., Aug. 27.-There is great excitement to-day all over the broom-corn belt of Illinois, which extends as far south as Wayne County and east to Edgar, west to Douglas and north to Champaign county, over a well-authenticated rumor that the broom-corn trust is about to collapse. The present crop of brush is now being harvested, and when it is ready it will be harvested, and when it is ready it will be thrown on the market, as many of the growers of the corn are renters and have to let go of their crops in order to pay their rent.

To let this corn be sold at its normal price, $20 to $50 a ton, is what the broomcorn trust cannot afford to do, as the trust has on hand in the warehouses at Arcola, Paris, Mattoon, Charleston and Oakland 10,000 tons of brush, on which for a year it has been paying insurance and storage. In the past day or two, two crops of corn haye heen purchased by the trust at $100 a ton. These two crops were small ones; one have been purchased by the trust at $100 a ton. These two crops were small ones; one of six tons, the other eight tons. The trust could well afford to buy them to establish a fictitious price, so that the farmers might be fooled and induced to hold their brush. In the meantime, it is a notorious fact that the trust is unloading its holdings as fast as it can find a market. Eighteen cars of brush were shipped Saturday from Charleston and three from here.

That the broom-corn trust is in hard lines and on the verge of a collapse, there can be no doubt. It is in arrears, it is said, with interest on borrowed money from hanks in Arcola, Oakland, Charleston and Mattoon.

The present total tonnage of broomorn in the district, when it is all harvested, will not exceed 25,000 tons. It is of inferior quality. This corn will all be on the market inside of the next thirty days, and the broom-corn trust is confronted with two propositions, one of which it will have to meet. The trust must sell its holdings at $150 a ton at once or lose out, or it must buy up the present crop at from $100 to $125 a ton to protect itself.

TEXAS COTTON CROP.

Improvement Expected in the Next Ten Days.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Houston, Tex., Aug. 27.-During the last ten days, the Post has printed reports from the various cotton-growing counties of the State showing the present condition of the crop. These reports confirm previous estimates of a reduction in the acreage and mates of a reduction in the acreage and show the crop to be now at a very critical point. Most of the reports state that the weed is very fine and of a dense foliage, but that the plant has not fruited as it should; others state that shedding is now going on and that the lower boils from which the sun is kept are rotting and falling from the stalk. This great growth of wood is due to the heavy and continuous rains which prevailed over the Central and Eastern portions of the State during July and which prevailed over the Central and Eastern portions of the State during July and August. The number of boils likely to mature is extremely problematical.

However, it is probable that there will be a decided improvement within the next ten days over the condition now prevailing if the weather continues hot; it is not too late for the plant to put forth abundant fruit, and, even though the bottom boils do not mature, the crop may still be a good one. If the rains should again set in there would be small show for even a medium crop.

Reports from Victoria, Fayette and one or two other counties state that the farmers welcomed the worms, as they will cut away much of the heavy foliage and permit the whole plant to get the benefit of the hot sun. The fact that the plant is heavily laden with branches and leaves will also have the effect of making picking very tedious and slow, which will further delay the marketing of the crop. The crop has regained none of the lost time, and is still three to four weeks late over the State as a whole. South Texas being more affected than other sections in this particular, as the rains have continued for a longer time. There are numerous reports of boil weevil and from Hunt, Waller and Washington counties in particular the reports were very bad. Other insects are also reported as doing damage in cotton fields in different sections of the State, and the correspondent at Denton County gives a very gloomy account of the ravages of the boil worm. The grasshoppers appear to have left North Texas with the wheat crop, as no further damage by them is reported. Most of the counties reporting good condition are small producers and do not offset the damage reported from the counties which produce a large amount of cotton.
